

CAMPAIGN ON TO STOP "AL" SMITH NOW IN FULL SWING

Becomes 11th Hour Struggle Over Sunday At Houston

OPPOSITION IS UNITED

It now Looks Like Smith and Robinson for The Democrats

By George R. Holmes
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
HOUSTON, Tex., June 25.—A belated and desperate campaign to "stop Al Smith" was on in full swing today as the hosts of Democracy poured into Houston for the convention which opens tomorrow.

It became over Sunday an eleventh hour struggle, born of desperation, to whip into some sort of fighting shape all of the elements of the party that are opposed to the nomination of the New York governor—the favorite son managers, the remnants of the old McAdoo machine, the radical dries, and the anti-Tammanites. All were agreed today upon the common objective of "stopping Smith," but none could furnish the formula by which this could be accomplished.

Sunday conferences, some of which did not break up until dawn resulted in little real progress. The bitter ends and the last ditchers against Smith were conferring all over the town, but looming far above the talk was the undisputed fact that Governor Smith will have a clear majority of votes on the first ballot, and probably two-thirds of the convention on the second or third ballot. Figure as they would—and did—the anti-Smith people could not get around.

Leadership in the final drive against Smith seemed to rest today with Daniel C. Roper, an old McAdoo lieutenant, who was Internal Revenue Commissioner in the Wilson administration, an ardent dry and a skilled politician. Roper's room in a downtown hotel was the mecca for all the anti-Smith elements. To it at various times during the past 24 hours have gone the Anti-Saloon League people, numerous friends of McAdoo—and even Sen. "Jim" Reed, of Missouri, who stands next to Smith in delegate strength, and in whom rest whatever real hope the so-called "Allies" have of ultimately stopping Smith.

The aim, the purpose and the goal of the dissenters was expressed by Roper himself today as follows: "The elements of the convention which are convinced of the necessity of saving the Democratic party from nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment, and from Tammany control of the Federal Government, are in agreement upon the course of procedure to be followed in the fight."

The nature of that "agreement" and the "course of procedure" was not divulged, either by Roper himself or by Senator Reed, who left a conference there at 2 a. m. The Missourian was in a belligerent frame of mind as he climbed into a taxicab with several of his managers.

"I have entered into no coalition, combine or combination," he snapped, in reply to questions. "Missouri is here for only one thing—to get all the votes we can."

"We are entering no 'deals' involving the presidency, possible cabinet posts or anything else."

This last remark referred to the activities of the Smith managers. While the "Allies" have been busy cooling up trouble for the New York governor his friends have not been idle. They have been doing some cooking themselves in the last 24 hours, principally with regard to the vice-presidency. It was reported they offered second place to Reed and that he refused to consider it. It was also reported the Smith people offered it to Sen. Joe Robinson of Arkansas, who was more amenable to it than his Senator colleague. But were being named today that the ticket to be named four or five days hence will be Smith and Robinson.

Moose Will Stage Lawn Fete Here Again Tonight

Tonight the Moose will again hold a lawn party on the lawn of their home, Radcliffe and Lafayette streets. The affair which was held Friday and Saturday evenings was marred somewhat by the rain and there are many features planned for tonight.

The Moose lawn along the banks of the Delaware River makes an ideal spot for a lawn party at this season of the year. It is a cool place to spend an evening and have an enjoyable time. There will be music for dancing and all who attend are sure of having a very pleasant time.

The proceeds are to be used for a worthy cause as all money raised by this lawn fete will be given to the Sunshine Fund of the Bristol lodge.

Blood of Indian Chiefs Flows in Curtis' Veins

G. O. P. Vice-Presidential Nominee Is a Real 100% American

By GRAHAM STEWART
International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent

For the first time in American history an Indian looms as likely to become Vice-President of the United States! This statement isn't as fantastic as it sounds, for—

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, chosen by the Republicans of the country to be the running mate of Herbert Hoover, is a descendant of noble Indian chieftains, himself born on Indian territory in what is now North Topeka. The holder of a powerful position in the Senate, where he was for some time G. O. P. leader, and a statesman second to none, which fact he proved when he coaxed the insurgents of the upper house into party alignment, the vice-presidential nominee's grandmother was a member of the Kansas Tribe and was one-half Indian.

His maternal great-grandfather was "White Plume," chief of the

SENATOR CHARLES CURTIS

Kansas Tribe, who was the son of "Pawhuska," the great chieftain of the Osages.

Thus Senator Curtis, cowboy, rancher, statesman, is justly a "100 per cent. American," one of the few who has ever attained high office in the United States.

STATE MAY CHARGE CAMPERS SMALL FEE

Action Now Being Discussed By Those Who Are In Charge

OTHER STATE NEWS

HARRISBURG, June 25.—(INS)—Possibility of a small charge to campers who use the public camp grounds in state forests is discussed in the weekly bulletin issued today to employees of the Department of Forests and Waters. At present those who pay rent on permanent camp sites pay small annual rentals but no charge is made to those who use the public camping sites maintained by the Department.

T. O. Bietsch, of the bureau of management, points out that camp sites are leased only to taxpayers of the Commonwealth while residents of other states get free use of the facilities provided at each forest camp. These campers, he asserts, as a result are often given more consideration than residents who lease camp sites and of course construct their own buildings.

Nominal charges for the use of the camp facilities, Bietsch believes, would result in more profitable management of the forests and at the same time establish a more uniform policy for all who benefit from them.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 25.—(INS)—Santa Claus is the Republican nominee for president of the United States. He was elected to that position at a mock convention held here by the local Lions Club.

Santa Claus, a "dark horse" for the nomination, was nominated by the Rev. C. H. Holcomb, and scored a smashing victory over Dangerous Dan McGrew, runner-up, Herbert Hoover and Al Smith.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—(INS)—The largest number of athletes ever to graduate from the University of Pennsylvania at one time were to receive their diplomas last week at the annual commencement exercises.

Each of the 15 sports on the athletic curriculum of the University has one or more representatives among the 116 men who will conclude their collegiate careers. This number exceeds by 19 the number of athletes graduated last year.

The only three letter athlete in the group is Harvey Matthews, of Philadelphia. He won letters in soccer, baseball and basketball.

HARRISBURG, June 25.—(INS)—Foresters from nearby districts are studying a sample white pine plantation in the Sinnemahoning forest to learn the best methods of controlling blister rust.

Representatives of the Federal and State forest services are demonstrating the best practices to follow in detecting, checking and controlling the disease.

The site for the plantation was chosen in 1917 because few cases of rust had been discovered there and also because it was a location in which gooseberries, which spread the rust, could be easily detected. Employees of the department were used to comb the entire site in search of gooseberries. As a result of the steps taken at that time and each succeeding year but little rust has developed on the plot.

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 25.—(INS)—To prevent forest fires, the Ligonier Valley Railroad, co-operating with V. M. Boarer, district state forester, has arranged to construct a 35-foot "fire line" on each side of its tracks. Evergreen trees will be planted to catch sparks from locomotives and prevent flames from spreading beyond the trees.

SONS OF ITALY OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY WITH SPEECH MAKING AND BANQUET

Delightful Affair Held in St. Ann's Hall — Many Distinguished Guests Are in Attendance — 5 Members Honored for Work Done During the Past Year

Pietro Metastasio Lodge, No. 539, Sons of Italy, celebrated the 12th anniversary yesterday with a big banquet which followed the initiation of 40 new members. The initiation was held in Trades Hall and the banquet which followed took place in St. Ann's hall on Logan street. There were about 225 at the banquet including a number of honored guests.

At the initiation the work was done by the Honorable Eugenio V. Alessandrini, Judge of Court No. 5, of Philadelphia. Judge Alessandrini has recently been highly honored by the Italian Government and made a commander.

At the banquet Joseph Fanini, venerable of Sons of Italy, of Bristol, introduced Angelo DiRenzo as toastmaster of the occasion. The Rev. Father Jenne offered prayer.

Joseph Fanini in his opening remarks welcomed the guests and members of the lodge and explaining that the banquet was in honor of the 12th anniversary of the lodge said that he was glad to be present on such an occasion.

The Rev. Jenne extended greetings to the lodge members and wished them the greatest of success.

Joseph R. Grundy was introduced and spoke of the progress which the Italian people have made since first coming to Bristol. He complimented them on their success and told of their progress in the affairs of the borough. He paid compliment to G. Greco, fifth ward assessor, and said that he had been told by the County Commissioners, that Mr. Greco had one of the best sets of books in the county.

Grand Deputy Nicoletti, of Tacony, was another speaker and was presented with a basket of flowers to give to the son of the late Di Silvestri in memory of his father.

G. Greco presented a basket of handsome roses to the Hon. Alessandrini.

Mr. Di Peso, grand financial secretary of Sons of Italy, made brief remarks, and on behalf of the Grand Lodge presented certificates of merit to five Bristol men who have done outstanding work during the year for the Bristol Sons of Italy. Those to receive these certificates were the following:

Enrico Rocco, Marco Cicanti, Angelo Natale, Carmine Mastroianni, Joseph Panini.

Among the guests from out of town were Antonio DiSilvestro, druggist, of Philadelphia; James C. Todaro, counsel for the Grand Lodge; John J. Peterson.

Father Jenne gave the assemblage a pleasant surprise when he presented 20 little girls who did dancing numbers and exercises on the stage in the way of entertainment for the gathering. Miss Moffo presided at the piano.

The committee which handled the affair was composed of the following: Louis Galzerano, chairman; G. Greco, secretary and treasurer; Angelo Ientilucci, Joseph DeLuca, Louis Sabatini, Enrico Rocco, Angelo Natale, Joseph Stallone, Joseph Pica, Carmine Mastroianni, Verino Monaco, Marco Cicanti, Joseph Scamporrì, Frank Noctio.

The menu was presented by G. Cattani in his usual good style and he was highly complimented upon it. He was aided by the Sisters of St. Ann's convent and 20 young ladies served the menu.

At five o'clock last evening the Sons of Italy witnessed a baseball game between two teams of the Philadelphia Lodge, Sons of Italy, which was played on Sullivan's field.

Fear for His Safety

Fear that Roald Amundsen, famous Arctic explorer, who, with Lieut. Lief Dietrichsen and Rene Guilbaud, flew from Tromsø, Norway, toward Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, in an effort to locate Nobile, may have been forced down on the pack ice himself, is expressed by Copenhagen friends. In this event the plight of Amundsen and his comrades would be more desperate than that of the men they sought to find.

BRISTOLIANS ARE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll and Daughters Slightly Hurt

HEARING IS HELD BY J. P.

East Orange Man Held Under Bail for Reckless Driving

Four Bristol people figured in an automobile accident, south of Bristol, Saturday evening, when an East Orange, N. J., resident crashed into their car in an effort to avoid striking two men pushing another machine.

The injured Bristolians are: Joseph Carroll, 929 Garden street; Mrs. Carroll, and their two small daughters, Margaret and Anna. The quartette, receiving minor cuts and bruises, was treated at the private hospital of Dr. J. Fred Wagner.

The driver of the other machine, John T. Crosson, of 31 Morton place, East Orange, it is stated by Justice James Laughlin, is said to have been operating his machine at an excessive rate of speed in the direction of Philadelphia. As a car, being pushed by two men in the same direction, was noticed in front of him, Crosson swerved his machine to the left of the road, striking the Carroll sedan head on. The Bristol folks' machine was turned upside down, and the occupants plumed underneath.

Both cars were badly damaged, each having to be towed from the scene. Officer H. Lincoln Hughes, of Bensalem Township, placed Crosson under arrest, a hearing being given before Justice of the Peace James Laughlin, near whose home the accident occurred.

The New Jersey man was held under $500 bail on a charge of reckless driving, to await the outcome of the injuries of Mrs. Carroll and her daughters. It is expected that a further hearing will take place Friday evening at 7 o'clock before Justice Laughlin.

It was stated today by those near the scene of the collision that if the Crosson car had kept to the right of the road, it would have meant certain death for the two men pushing the car ahead.

J.; Miss Mary Gainsborough, Palm Beach, Fla.; Miss Helen Glair, Bayonne, N. J.; Jack Carney, Yonkers, N. Y.; James G. Ozias, Newark, N. J.; Joe Irwin, Red Bank, N. J.; Lester Hanf, Brooklyn, N. ROME, June 25.—(INS)—The situation of the five remaining members of General Umberto Nobile's exploration party upon an arctic floe, off Foyne Island, is serious because the ice has begun to break up, said a radio from King's Bay. Upon returning to Hynlopen Strait after his first trip to the refugee camp, the Swedish pilot of the Upland said Nobile wanted him to rescue Ceccione first. However, in view of the fact that Nobile was in worse personal condition than the Mechanic and because of the latter's weight, Tornberg insisted that Nobile be first to leave.

CLOTHES AND HEALTH

Once upon a time there lived on a South Sea island a race of beautiful people. The climate was ideal; life was simple and easy; adults wore few clothes and the children none. It may be well to add that this is not a fairy tale, but a bit of history.

Then a strange ship appeared and sent its cargo of white men ashore. These men were but one degree lighter than the island natives but they were "civilized"—they wore clothing.

Soon the white men had taught the natives to cover their nakedness and scattered among them the white man's diseases, and after a few years' control by "Civilization" few natives of unmixed blood remained and the island's population, now fully clothed, became diseased ridden and in all ways unlovely.

But while the white man has been teaching the aborigines to clothe themselves what has the modern mother—the "civilized" mother—been doing? She has kept abreast of science and her small son scampers across the lawn dressed in nothing but a loin cloth, such as the white man, upon his arrival at the Pacific island, found the natives wearing.

The "civilized" mother has learned that a tanned skin is a healthy skin and that sunshine prevents tuberculosis and other diseases. And father and mother are also taking the sunshine treatment by paying frequent visits to the beach and wearing fewer and thinner clothing in summer.

Fortunately for the case of mind of "Civilization," science has not definitely traced the decimation of the native tribes to the clothing forced upon them by the white man.

DANGER OF SUPPRESSION

Although bristling with practical difficulties, the question of free speech is one concerning which the citizen must have well-defined opinions. Books by the hundred and platform utterances by the thousand cover the subject theoretically. The rub comes in its everyday application.

History as well as common sense teaches the simple lesson that severe repression often proves its own undoing. Impeach as we may the motives or character of the adventurous spirits responsible for the French and Russian revolutions, yet there is more than a suspicion that their bloody and tyrannous strangleholds came about partly because of the regimes of suppression as well as corruption which preceded them. One extreme leads to another; if the pendulum swings too far one way, it does not come to rest until it has gone to great lengths in the opposite direction.

People who favor unbounded freedom of speech and those who see all sorts of terrifying dangers in free speech when it permits the expression of opinions contrary to those of the majority, both overlook the fact that these matters are pretty well governed by definite law. Usually it is better to let the dissenter say his speech without protest.

It does not pay to use the heaviest artillery against the activities of that exceedingly small minority of the population which get a thrill from being considered "radical." It thrives on hostility and threats to silence it.

A Chicago doctor after long and exhaustive researches finds that cigarettes are injurious to the complexion, as well as to walnut veneer.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

Those desirous of filling ice houses in and about Morrisville during February of 1878, were much disappointed when mild weather set in at that season. There were at that time a number of large ice houses located along the Delaware in the Morrisville section, and very little ice had been secured during the winter. At no during the cold months was the Delaware coated with thick ice.

The first carloads of coal shipped over the entire length of the Newtown Railroad was received in Newtown by Thaddeus S. Kenderline. The coal was brought down the Lehigh river to Bethlehem and thence by the North Penn Railroad to Erie avenue, Phila., where it was switched off to the Newtown Railroad.

Fire of an unknown origin destroyed a barn that month at the Lower Black Eddy Hotel. The property belonged to the estate of George W. Closson and was occupied by William White, who kept the hotel several years. Some farming implements and wagons were saved and the loss of crops was small. The structure was valued at $500 and was insured for two-thirds this amount in the Buckingham company.

One half of the members of Company G then located at Doylestown, were called out by Sheriff Reinhart to assist in quelling a disturbance that took place at the county prison. The jail was guarded during the night and the following morning the most troublesome of the inmates were taken to the penitentiary.

John Espenshied, Chalfont, had one of his legs fractured while watching an operation at the Brunner hay press. The large chain attached to the hoisting apparatus broke and one of the fractured links struck Mr. Espenshied, causing the fracture of the leg. The injured man was at one time a resident of Doylestown, but a short time previous to his accident purchased a barber shop at Chalfont.

A meeting was held in the Hugheston school house for the purpose of considering the prospects of a public hall for Centerville. A large committee of prominent citizens was appointed to solicit the community for funds with which to erect the proposed building.

Eastburn & Betts, coal and lumber dealers at New Hope, sold out their business to Staekton & Stacy.

County Commissioners at their meeting in Doylestown awarded the contract of furnishing the heating apparatus for the new court house to Pancoast & Maule for $4200.

ITEMS OF INTEREST AS CLIPPED FROM NEWSPAPER FILES

During the month of February, 1878, 1085 gallons of milk were shipped from the Quakertown station.

Rev. M. H. Sisty was appointed to assume charge of the Yardley M. E. Church and Rev. Mr. Gilbert was assigned to the Morrisville congregation.

Two residents of Quakertown, the proprietor of Ahlum's Hotel, and Milton H. Roberts, were unfortunate while attending a large parade staged in Allentown, when they had their pockets picked. Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Buckwell, Frisco politician, wants to secure Vasquez ranch. His lawyer's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores Vasquez and exposes Buckwell's perfidy. Buckwell tries to wreck their love. Vasquez dies when Buckwell threatens eviction. Dolores and Terry expose Buckwell as Chinaman to avenge Vasquez. Buckwell kidnaps them, and threatens Terry's life unless Dolores clears his name. She saves Terry, but later refuses the lie and forces Buckwell to flee into the underworld. Buckwell abducts Dolores. Holds her prisoner in infamous den where he plans to sell her into white slavery. Fire and earthquake save her from terrible fate as property of wealthy Chinaman.

Weakly she continued to crawl toward a door. Her groping hands touched its cold iron surface. She crossed the threshold and behind her a falling beam crashed down. The shock of its fall with its closeness was the final straw that broke her ebbing strength and with a soft moan she dropped forward in a dead faint.

Outside in the room she had just left the lone lamp sputtered in despair and went out. The whole place was in pitch blackness. Over her head and around her were heavy walls of steel. Scattered about her lay the gold and jewels of years of accumulation. The wealth of Chinatown! Dolores had crawled into the vault of Chinatown's richest mandarin, and lay there silent as death, the most precious gem of them all.

Up above, half of San Francisco was being devastated. More than fifteen square miles of the city was being laid waste with a thoroughness that was appalling. Railroads and ferries stopped running, the water supply was cut off, telephone and telegraph lines were out of commission, electric power was shut off or put out of order by falling walls and quaking ground.

"And so, my brother, we meet again!"

But the spirit of San Francisco responded nobly. The offspring of those pioneers who endured all hardships across the plains in '49 to search for gold in the hills around San Francisco, faced this awful calamity with a courage that never faltered. Martial law was immediately declared. Dead lines were established and soldiers patrolled the streets with orders to shoot to kill any who disobeyed or were caught looting. The fire department and the police did wonderful work, and many are the stories of heroism that will live permanently in the history of the city. Buildings were dynamited in an effort to halt the fire's progress, and when no more dynamite was to be found, the artillery was called for and the roar of cannons added to the city's confusion throughout the day.

Terry and Buckwell's dwarfed Chinese brother had escaped death a hundred times as they scurried through the maze of passages in their frantic effort to find Dolores. The dwarf knew where she had been taken but time after time they found their way blocked by fallen debris. Terry would not give up the search until Dolores had been found or he had perished with her. The dwarf was equally determined to find Buckwell. The years of imprisonment had kindled a hatred for Buckwell so intense that the dwarf would not be satisfied until he was sure that Buckwell had perished.

Here and there stray bits of sunshine filtered through openings overhead where some fallen beam had cleared a passage way to the open air. For the first time in its history the underworld of San Francisco was open to the light of day. Strangely enough it seemed to symbolize the purification of sin and crime.

ren, of Bangor, Pa., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Helen Illick.

Those featured in the cast of "Old Ironsides," which was written directly for the screen by Laurence Stallings, are Esther Ralston, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Charles Farrell and Johnnie Walker. It was suggested and adapted for the screen by Harry Carr and Walter Woods.

Whitest Washes Found In Bristol

Interviews With Local Women Disclose Surprising Washday Secrets

It has frequently been said that the whitest washes in America are to be found right here, on our own Bristol clotheslines.

Observations made in various localities on washday amply bear this out. Thus, it would seem that Bristol has one more good reason for being proud of its housewives.

A surprising fact, brought out in interviews with a number of Bristol women is that no scrubbing, or even boiling, is needed to secure these whiter washes.

As one smiling faced woman said, when interviewed in a local grocery store:

"All you do is soak the clothes for an hour or two in this different kind of suds. Then all you have to do is rinse, and all the dirt and stains float off by themselves."

Grocers are found to be equally enthusiastic about this way of doing the week's wash.

"The whole secret is in the soap," said one. "Women have found that with granulated soap there's no need of that back-breaking rubbing and scrubbing. Yes, ever since Rinso came on the market washday is an easy job. At least, that's what my customers tell me."

Lever Brothers Company, of Cambridge, Mass., are the makers of this modern-day laundry soap. In one month this concern received over 6,000 letters of praise from Rinso users.

The Courier has made arrangements with Lever Brothers Company whereby these letters, many of which are from Bristol women, will appear each Monday in its pages. Bristol women who are interested in whiter washes and easier washdays should find them of unusual interest.

GRAND THEATRE

In casting "The Crowd," King Vidor's newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, coming to the Grand Theatre, tonight and Tuesday, Eleanor Boardman was cast as the most typical American girl on the screen today and James Murray obtained the role of the most typically American male screen player. Miss Boardman has always been regarded as a typically American girl by the world of movie fans but Vidor had to search even the extra ranks before he found the boy whom he considered most suited for the leading male role. Murray never played a part before but he had three years' experience as an extra player which fitted him for the role. All he had to do was to be himself—a thing that no finished actor could have accomplished under the circumstances.

Our job-printing department is capable of attending to your stationery wants. Orders for job-work will be quickly attended to.

WASHINGTON CROSSING TO PLAY HERE ON 4TH OF JULY

Keystone nine has booked a fast ball team to play here on the afternoon of July 4th. The airplane builders will have as their opponents the strong team from Washington Crossing.

Washington Crossing team has visited Bristol on previous occasions and everyone remembers what a snappy outfit they have and how the members can play ball. Two years ago the Washington Crossing nine played the Third Ward and on that occasion put up a very lively game.

The record of Washington Crossing this season shows that they have one of the very best teams in this section. The team consists of the pick of two city leagues.

Keystone has developed a very fast nine and the players, nearly all of whom are from Bristol, are determined to give this town one of the best ball nines on the circuit today. It will be interesting for the fans to know that "Bill" Fine and Gene Dugan have been signed to play with Keystone. Fine will play second base and Dugan will be on the third sack.

The game will commence at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of July 4th.

COME BACK GAG FAILS TO WORK

By Davis J. Walsh
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 25.—The jockey who weakened under the weight of his innate cleverness and committed the line, "They never come back," must have been talking about shirts from the laundry or something. He couldn't have been referring to the many fellows of the prize ring; at least, not if he has been keeping the good old index finger on the pulse of the situation. The famous bromide or pop-off, to be elegant, isn't worth the chloroform to kill it nowadays.

All you have to think of, in order to knock it right down, is old Mike McTigue. I admit it is far from painless to think about Miguel of late but the fact remains that, after being kicked around by everybody and his Uncle Abner, this patriarch came back to knock out Berlenbach and others and was within a stride of beating Jack Sharkey before Dempsey got him.

And Dempsey! He was all washed up, they said, and didn't have a chance against a Confederate veteran with an empty sleeve. Yet he outgamed and outsmarted Sharkey and needed only another punch against Tunney to regain his heavyweight championship. Maybe this wasn't coming back in the fullest sense of the term but Messrs. Tunney and Sharkey will bear up bravely if he never does any better by the situation.

Next we will turn our attention to Mr. Barney Williams, nee Battling Levinsky. The Battler has been battling around longer than Murphy's upper lip and a few years ago he was thought to have retired, mostly by request. But I note in the public prints that Battling Levinsky is fighting again and often and that he still can beat a lot of young men who think they are light heavyweights. Mr. William Breslin, otherwise Jack Britton, is another old timer who was permitted to languish on the vine and then stepped himself out of retirement to interrupt the progress of a few forward-looking welterweights.

Welterweights? That brings us right up to date. You may have observed that Pete Latzo almost beat Tommy Loughran out of his light heavyweight title some weeks ago and subsequently won on a foul from Leo Lomski after a terrific fight. Latzo was welterweight champion only a year ago.

The scale beat him, however, and when he went into the middleweight class he seemed to lose his stuff. Anyhow, he got nowhere with great speed and the boys began to forget him without trouble. He finally outgrew this class, too, and forthwith mingled with the light heavyweights, looking none too good, at that. Loughran thought he was going in with a push-over or Peter probably wouldn't have got the fight at all. At least, he wouldn't have got it until Loughran was sure he was ready. Now, after his performance with Lomski, he is among the front line of title contenders.

The next exhibit is little Cannonball Martin, who blew his bantamweight title years ago, and seldom was heard of or from until recently. But he is good enough right now to get successive championship fights with Tod Morgan in the 130-pound class.

Finally, we have Mickey Walker. Shorn of his title by Latzo and stopped by Joe Dundee, he lived to become champion in the class above and still is. He even went so far as to knock-out McTigue, causing some of his friends to believe that he can beat the average first class heavyweight.

Yes, they never come back—provided you hit them with a pick axe.

CLOTHES WASHED THIS NEW WAY LAST LONGER

READ WHAT MRS. JOHN SIMONS, OF 531 SWAIN STREET, SAYS:

"MY mother and sister-in-law got me to try Rinso and I am glad they did. I have been using it now for years. I find the Rinso suds soak out the dirt. The clothes are white and sweet and smell ever so lovely. It doesn't wear out clothes or fade colors, and it is safe on even fine linens. It never troubles my hands. Washday is very easy with Rinso, and I could not get along without it for washing dishes, floors, and in fact, everything about the house. It's awfully good—a great household laundry soap." —(Signed) Mrs. John Simons, 531 Swain street, Bristol, Pa.

END WASHDAY WORRIES

In tub or machine, Rinso, the granulated soap, is all you need for the whitest wash ever. Quickly soaks out dirt and stains. This gentle way saves the clothes—saves your hands. As he pushed his ladders down the street a sharp-eyed window-cleaner noticed that the windows of a certain house were very dirty.

"Would you like the windows cleaned, sir?" he asked a man who was mowing the lawn.

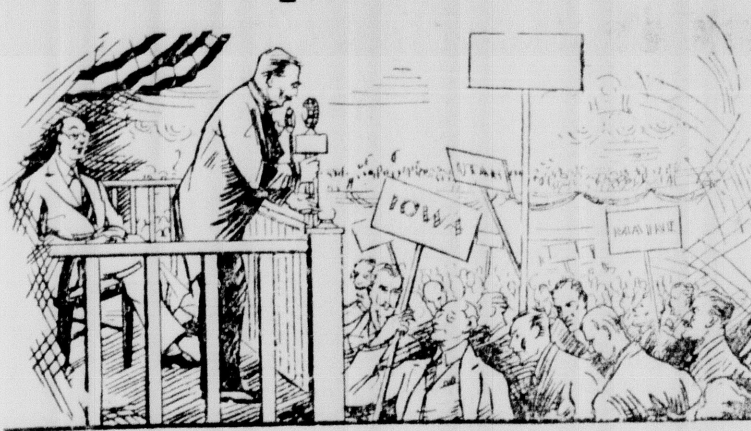

The other peered angrily over the tops of his spectacles.

"No," he snapped. "They don't require cleaning."

The window-cleaner sighed regretfully and asked softly:

"May I give your spectacles a wipe over, sir?"
